

From a Portfolio Manager's Perspective

10:30 AM - 1:00 PM, Wednesday September 26, 2018
Marriott Pinnacle Downtown, 1128 W Hastings St., Vancouver, BC

Please join fellow real estate professionals for a discussion on the impact of sustainability metrics in disclosure, due diligence, and the operation and maintenance of properties and portfolios. The event will include a special presentation of the Global Real Estate Sustainability Benchmark (GRESB) 2018 Assessment Results.

Mr. Neil Pegram, Director of Americas, Global Real Estate Sustainability Board, Vancouver, Canada

Mr. Jamie Gray-Donald, Vice President, Sustainability, QuadReal Property Group, Vancouver, Canada

Mr. Christian Plas, Managing Partner, Sustainability, Denkstatt, Vienna, Austria

Planned topics of discussion include:

- Environmental/Social/Governance (ESG) risks and metrics
 - What are ESG risks
 - How do they apply to commercial and residential properties
 - Which should be monitored and why
- What information should be reported and how should it be captured
- How to report sustainability impacts
 - Not all reports are alike
 - Consistency matters
 - Tracking/recording key performance indicators
- What to look for during due diligence
 - Alignment to corporate goals
 - Alignment to global initiatives
 - Building Performance (water/energy use, etc.)
 - Sustainability/Green Building Certifications
- The Lender's Perspective
 - What they are looking for
 - Why it matters

A light lunch will be served from noon to 1 PM and Mr. Pegram will announce GRESB's 2018 Global and Canadian Sustainability Benchmark Results at 12:30 PM.
To register please RSVP to Mike Grinnell <m.grinnell@terrapex.com>
